

VISTA PLANTATION ASSOCIATION RULES

55+ Independent Living Community

For many of our residents Vista Plantation is their home. Through their cooperative efforts we have attained, and been able to maintain, our unique adult residential atmosphere. It must be noted that Vista Plantation is a 55+ Independent Living Community and not an assisted living facility. Owners and lessees have priority in the use of all facilities. Guests are welcome, provided they observe the rules governing the use of Condominium Property and the recreational facilities. Use Restrictions are set forth in Paragraph 21 of the Declaration of Condominium of Vista Plantation. Rules governing the use of the recreation area and common elements, i.e., the clubhouse, pools, tennis courts, and other Association premises, are contained herein. Where feasible, rules covering operational detail are posted at the particular area.

For many of us condominium living is a new way of life. Each owner is entitled to complete use of his own condo as well as the outside facilities, but such use must not conflict with the rights of the other owners. Therefore, certain standards for individual behavior are necessary to assure pleasant and harmonious community living.

It is the duty of owners to inform their guests and/or tenants of these rules. Any behavior that is objectionable to a majority is not acceptable, even though not covered by a specific rule.

In accordance with Amended Articles of Incorporation, Powers of the Association, Article 3, Paragraph 3.2, item F allows the Board "to make and amend reasonable rules and regulations respecting the use of the Condominium Properties". All rules will be enforced by the Association's management company. Continued violation and disregard of the rules by an individual may be referred to the Board of Directors for legal procedure against the individual.

These revised rules are effective as of January 1, 2015
